Company Profile - Gaining momentum

Solid 2012 Q2 results - EPS up 12% with higher wireless ARPU & margins

- Overall, Q2 results were strong and continued in the same positive direction as previous quarters, driven by Wireless. ARPU growth accelerated slightly to 3.4% (from 1.9%) with higher prices; indicating a less competitive market environment. EBIT Margins jumped to 19.8%, the top end of their historical range since 2006. Verizon continued to outperform AT&T, taking most of the new post-paid subscribers. The key concerns this Q was the continued slowing revenue & subscriber growth.
- Q2 revenues rose $1.0 bn (+4%), to $28.6 bn, as Wireless growth offset the Wireline decline.
  - Wireless revenue growth (+7%) was from subscriber (+5%) and ARPU (+3%) growth. Subscriber net retail adds of 1.2 m was driven mostly by post-paid of 0.9 m, (+4.2%). Data growth (+18.5%) was strong but continued to slow, while voice fell (-0.1%).
  - Wireline revenues fell (-3%) in all areas except the consumer part of Mass Markets. The number of connections (lines) grew slightly (+3%) with strong FIOS (+29%) and broadband growth (+3%) offsetting the decline in residential lines (-7%).
- Gross margins up 2% to 62%, suggest lower handset subsidies & network costs.
- EBIT rose $0.8 bn (+16%), to $5.7 bn. EBIT Margin rose 2.0% to 19.8%.
  - Strong Wireless margins (up 3.6%) offset lower Wireline margins (down 1.2%)
- Net income rose $0.2 bn (+13%), to $1.8 bn, with slightly lower tax rates (down 1%, to 16%).
- EPS rose $0.07 (+12%), to $0.64.
- Free cash flow was strong again (at $5.4 bn), primarily due to lower Wireless CAPEX.
- Verizon reiterated guidance for 2012 of double-digit earnings growth.

Note: Comparisons (eg. growth rates) are stated on a Year-on-Year (YoY) basis.

Significant recent events

- Verizon Wireless overhauls its pricing plans - ending an industry price war.
- Verizon agreed to buy Hughes Telematics, for $612 m.

Investment thesis

Verizon is a utility with an attractive dividend yield (c. 5%) and a value stock investment profile. It is a well managed company and is extending its leading position in an oligopolistic market. It takes the best wireless customers, highest overall ARPU, highest margins and lowest churn. Its early deployment of the latest wireless technology (LTE) has positioned it extremely well. The proposed wireless spectrum purchase from cable companies will increase its lead. Verizon's operational focus is to stabilize its Wireline business while pushing Wireless growth. As markets mature, mobile growth relies on subscribers spending more on data, to raise ARPU. Vodafone's 45% stake in Verizon Wireless is a major drag on EPS growth as Wireless grows. The high dividend pay-out ratios of over 75% restrict the capacity for dividend increases. In summary, Verizon is the best of the US telcos, but faces difficult industry dynamics with slowing growth, commoditisation of lucrative voice revenues & tough regulation.

SWOT analysis

Strengths

- Large size (economies of scale).
- Leading mobile market share.
- Key assets (licenses & network).
- Strong recurring revenues & FCF.

Opportunities

- New data services eg. FIOS & LTE.
- Falling wireless CAPEX.
- Decreasing competition in wireless.
- Proposed wireless spectrum purchase.

Weaknesses

- Mature US telecoms market.
- 45% of Verizon Wireless not owned.
- High smartphone subsidies.
- Static EPS and DPS in 2006-11.

Threats

- Telcos become "dumb pipes", as they compete mostly on price.
- Commoditisation of voice.
- Higher tax rates.

Explanation of Company Ratings used by Indigo Equity Research Ltd:

Industry View: ATTRACTIVE

Industry View = This is an assessment from an investor's perspective of the potential for the industry as a whole to generate profits in the future based on criteria such as: market structure (eg. number of competitors and industry concentration), growth prospects, maturity (stage of the industry life cycle), regulations, technology, disruptive forces, expected changes and speed of any changes.

Company Rating:

|           | LOW | MED. | HIGH |
|-----------|-----|------|------|
| Risk      |     |      |      |
| Quality   |     |      |      |
| Valuation |     |      |      |

Risk = Risk of earnings disappointment & volatility as well as the risk of a change in the valuation ratios (or multiples) that impact the share price. This in turn depends on items such as revenue growth and profit margin volatility.

Quality = Quality of the company to maintain competitive advantages and pricing power, based on criteria such as management, market position, pricing power, market growth, quality of services etc.....

Valuation = Absolute measure of valuation multiples of the company, based on a range of metrics (multiples) such as: P/Sales, PE, PEG, P/BV, P/FCF, EV/EBITDA, EV/Sales, Div Yield .....

Comment on Ratings: These qualitative assessments of "Company Ratings" are made for each company on a relative basis compared to other companies with large capitalizations.
